PRESS COMMUNIQUÉ.

Fort St. George, December 16, 1937.

No. 956.—

The Hon'ble the Prime Minister, while introducing the Budget Estimates for 1937–38, announced that provision had been made in the estimates for the grant of land revenue concessions to the extent of Rs. 75 lakhs during the current fasli. The problem of the precise manner in which this relief should be distributed has engaged the earnest attention of the Government for some time. In examining this important question, the Government have had the advantage of perusing the report of the Marjoribanks Committee and have had before them the papers relating to the concessions granted in previous years. They have taken into consideration also the numerous representations, oral and written, from various individuals and bodies throughout the Presidency. They recognize that the remissions which they are able to grant in the current fasli do not fully satisfy all the claims which have been made in respect of land revenue assessments and the water-rates which have been enhanced concurrently with the land revenue and they desire that the concessions now granted should not be regarded as representing in all cases what Government consider to be adequate relief. The relief afforded has necessarily to be restricted to the amount appropriated for the purpose. Within these limits the claims of the various areas affected have to be met in the most equitable manner possible.

2. After a thorough examination of all the various possibilities of distributing the relief, the Government have reached the conclusion that the scheme indicated below secures for each district the fairest possible apportionment of the sum available taking all circumstances into consideration.

3. They accordingly direct that the land revenue concessions for fasli 1347 shall take the following forms:—

(i) The cancellation of the percentage enhancements imposed at resettlement on dry, wet and garden lands in the following tracts:—

(1) The Vizagapatam district except the Chicacole and Ichchapur taluks
(2) The East Godavari district
(3) The West Godavari district
(4) The Kistna district
(5) The Bellary district
(6) The Anantapur district excluding the Kadiri taluk
(7) The Chittoor district (Chittoor, Palmaner and Chandragiri taluks)
(8) The North Arcot district (the taluks of Wandiwash, Tiruvannamalai and Chengam, 2 villages in the Tiruppattur taluk, 155 villages in the Polur taluk, 78 villages in the Cheyyar taluk and 1 village in Arni)
(9) The South Arcot district
(10) The Salem district (the hill villages and the southern taluks, viz., Salem, Harur, Tiruchengode, Omalur, Namakkal and Attur)
(11) The Trichinopoly district except the Karur taluk
(12) The Tanjore district
(13) The Madura district
(14) The Anjengo sub-taluk of the Tinnevelly district
(15) The Nilgiri district (Gudalur taluk only)
(16) The Malabar district
(17) The South Kanara district

Amount of remission—Rs. 67 lakhs.

(ii) The grant of a remission of 2 annas in the rupee of the wet assessment in the remaining areas in the Presidency—Amount of remission, Rs. 14 lakhs

(iii) A temporary reduction of water-cess from Rs. 6–4–0 to Rs. 5–12–0 an acre for a first crop, with corresponding reductions for other crops, in the East and West Godavari and Kistna districts and in the deltaic tracts of the Guntur district—Amount of remission, Rs. 4 lakhs.

4. The Government wish it to be clearly understood that the distribution outlined above relates only to the utilization of the sum of Rs. 75 lakhs appropriated in the budget for land revenue concessions in the current fasli and that it must not be regarded as any indication of the shape which the ultimate land revenue policy of the Government will assume.

PRESS COMMUNIQUÉS.

Dated Fort St. George, the 15th December 1937.

No. 829 —

Some complaints have been received that Harijan boys have not been getting enough scholarships from the Labour Department and that scholarships have been discontinued without good reason in some cases. It is desirable that the real position should be explained to the public. The funds which the Government are able to place at the disposal of the Commissioner of Labour for the purpose of the grant of scholarships are limited. As early as in September 1935, it was felt by the Commissioner of Labour that there had been too much leniency in the grant of renewal of scholarships on failure to secure promotion in the usual course from class to class, especially in Secondary education, and that a warning was necessary. It was duly conveyed to the heads of institutions and scholarship-holders. It was felt that in the competition for employment, boys who have been dragged with several failures through their S.S.L.C. course with a minimum of marks stand little chance of securing employment as against other candidates, that there was no advantage to the State or to themselves in having a growing number of poorly educated youths who have been spoiled for manual or artisan work for which, but for their so-called education, they might have been brought up in their own surroundings, and that it was better to stop Government aid to Harijan pupils beyond the 8th standard or III Form in ordinary literary education unless they were definitely above the average. The heads of institutions in which pupils held Labour scholarships were consulted in regard to these views, and also the Director of Public Instruction. The Director of Public Instruction and the majority of the heads of institutions agreed with the views expressed though some were for the continuation of the leniency for boys of the V or VI Form. In 1936–37 renewal was refused upon failure to pass examinations or obtain promotions except in the most exceptional cases. Generally renewal was allowed of scholarships held by VI Form boys who had failed in their first trial in S.S.L.C. Examination if the marks obtained showed that they had a reasonable chance of success in the next examination or they had been handicapped by illness. The same policy has been followed during the current year. This policy is, in the opinion of the Government, a sound one. Even where promotions had been allowed by the heads of the institutions, it was found that the marks obtained were in some cases so low as to justify a refusal of continuation of scholarships. Some of these cases which may possibly be deemed to be hard are under the consideration of the Government.

In the Presidency as a whole 3,201 scholarships have been granted in 1937–38 as against 2,614 in 1936–37. The notification issued by the Commissioner of Labour on the subject in March 1937 to all institutions which take in pupils of the Depressed Classes contains full information in regard to the matter. It gives all particulars which pupils and others interested in these scholarships may require. One of the rules notified is that where the grant of a scholarship is refused, the Commissioner will not enter into any correspondence on the subject and that intimation will be given only where scholarships are sanctioned. Any other procedure would entail unnecessary correspondence and delay the grant of scholarships to new candidates whose qualifications are better. The Government consider that the grant and renewal of scholarships should be in the Commissioner's discretion and should normally be refused on a failure to obtain promotion or pass his final examination except when the pupils were prevented by illness from attending their examination. For every renewal or grant to a failed student somebody with better prospects of success and future employment would have to suffer.

Fort St. George, December 7, 1937.

No. 830.—

In G.O. No. 2153, Development, dated the 21st September 1937, the Government appointed M.R.Ry. N. Chandrasekhara Ayyar Avargal, B.A., B.L., District and Sessions Judge, Madura, as a Court of Enquiry under the Trade Disputes Act, 1929, to enquire into the dispute that had arisen between the employers of the Madura Mills and the workmen in the Ring Frame department of the said mills. The Government have now received the report of the Court under section 5 (1) of the Act and direct that it be published in the Fort St. George Gazette as required by section 12 (1).

2. The questions referred to the Court were—

(i) whether the system of two weeks night shift and one week day shift is or is not reasonable in view of the conditions prevailing in cotton mills generally in India and the special reasons put forward by the management,

(ii) whether the action of the executive of the Madura Labour Union for Textile Workers in supporting a strike without notice was or was not proper; and

(iii) what recommendations should be made to the employer and the workmen.

The Court has found the system of two weeks night and one week day shift not unreasonable. It has also found that the strike of the 9th September was undertaken without previous representations to the employers and that the Secretary of the Madura Labour Union acted unreasonably in supporting the same. The Court has also made certain recommendations in respect of increase in wages and reduction in hours of work, more especially for the workers employed on night shift. Another recommendation is that the workers should give notice before strike.

3. The Government are inclined to generally endorse the conclusions of the Court. At the same time they would draw the attention of the management and the workers to the observations of the Court on the subject of relationship between the employer and the workers' organization. The Government trust that a properly constituted union of workers in the mills will be duly recognized by the management in the interests of the industrial progress and peace of the Province. On the question of notice of strike, the Government have declared their policy already in their Press Communiqué of the 23nd October 1937. That policy is clear and definite and still holds good. The Government trust that the management of the mills will give due consideration to the recommendation of the Court for an increase in wages and reduction in hours of work especially for workers employed on night shift.

ENCLOSURE.

Report of the Court of Enquiry.

[Labour—Trade Disputes Act, 1929—Strike in the Madura Mills—Appointment of a Court of Enquiry.]

Letter from M.R.Rr. N. CHANDRASEKHARA AIYAR Avargal, B.A., B.L., District Judge, Madura, to M.R.Rr. Rao Bahadur C. J. PALL Avargal, Secretary to Government, Development Department, dated the 5th November 1937, No. 14133.

With reference to G.O. No 2153, dated 21st September 1937, I have the honour to submit the following report.

1. Under the above-mentioned Government Order, I was appointed, without prejudice to my duties as District and Sessions Judge of Madura, as a Court of Enquiry under the Trade Disputes Act of 1929, to enquire into the dispute that had arisen between the employers of the Madura Mills on the one hand and the workmen in the Ring Frame department of the said mills on the other as regards the employment of labour on two weeks' night shift and one week day shift. The questions referred to me were—

(i) Whether the system of two weeks' night shift and one week day shift is or is not reasonable in view of the conditions prevailing in cotton mills generally in India and the special reasons put forward by the management;
(ii) whether the action of the executive of the Madura Labour Union for Textile Workers in supporting a strike without notice was or was not proper, and
(iii) what recommendations should be made to the employer and the workmen?

2. On 29th September 1937, I gave notice to the mills, the men in the Ring Frame department, and the Labour Union, to appear before me on 2nd October 1937 so that the preliminaries for the enquiry might be settled; and on the latter date the parties were present in person and also through their lawyers, Mr. M. Subbaraya Aiyar, advocate, Madras, appeared for the Madura Mills, Mr. S. D. Thothachari, pleader, Madura, filed vakalats on behalf of four workmen of the Ring Frame department (who had been chosen by all the workmen as their representatives for the purposes of this enquiry) and also for Mr. S. R. Varadarajulu Nayudu, Honorary Secretary of the Madura Labour Union for Textile Workers. They were directed to file into court on or before 7th October 1937 statements in writing of their respective cases and they accordingly did so.

3. The lawyers were heard on the next day in explanation and amplification of their cases and the following points were settled as arising for determination before the Court of Enquiry and as involved in the terms of reference:—

(i) Were the management at the mills approached for reinstatement of the displaced women workers and for the employment in larger measure of women and half-time labourers?
(ii) Was the present system of two weeks night shift and one week day shift in force in Tuticorin and in any other department of the Madura Mills, and, if so, from what date?
(iii) Is it in vogue in any other mills in this Presidency or in any other parts of India and, if so, under what conditions, natural such as climatic, or artificial in the nature of improvements to the physical features of the place where the men have to work?
(iv) Is the work of the Ring Frame department in any way peculiarly difficult or onerous as compared with that of the labourers in the other departments such as reeling, winding and card room?
(v) Did any labour dispute exist between the mills and the men in the Ring Frame department?
(vi) Was notice of the strike unnecessary because any such labour dispute existed and the strike was resolved upon to facilitate its settlement?
(vii) Was the Madura Labour Union for Textile Workers justified in supporting the strike without notice for the aforesaid reason or because the management refused to permit the labourers to represent their grievances?

4. The enquiry was proceeded with on 13th October 1937, 16th October 1937, 21st October 1937 and 26th October 1937. Four witnesses were in all examined—Mr. Doak (Manager of the mills), Mr. Varadarajulu Nayudu (Secretary of the Labour Union), and two workmen of the Ring Frame department, named Nallamuya Tevan and Kuppuswami Nayudu. Exhibits * A to K-3 were marked on the side of the Madura Mills (called the party of the first part) and Exhibits * I to XI-A on the side of the workmen of the Ring Frame department and the Madura Labour Union (called the parties of the second and third parts, respectively). Arguments were heard on the last of the above-mentioned dates when certain interrogatories were served on the Madura Mills by the other two parties and answered.

5. I had also the benefit of a personal inspection of the night work of the mills, which I visited on 28th October 1937 at 9 p.m. in the presence of Mr. Doak and Mr. S. D. Thothacheriyar, pleader for parties of the second and third parts.

6. The Madura Mills, Limited (which includes the Pandyan Mills also) is a firm of spinners, pure and simple. It does no weaving work and has 12,000 workers. It has branches at Alubanamudram and Tuticorin, with 6,500 and 4,000 workers, respectively. The mills in Madura are divided into two units called the old mills and the new mills, situate within the same compound. There are 93,000 spindles in the old mills and 133,000 in the new mills. Forty-three thousand spindles sat at the latter did not work at nights prior to the introduction of the new system of shifts—two weeks' eight and one week day—from 9th September 1937. The management wanted that they should also work at nights and one of the objects of the new system was to achieve this. They have been working at nights since 16th September 1937—that is after the strike was called off.

7. Yarn comes out in its rnal form in the Ring Frame department. Women and half-timers (that is, children between 12 and 15 and uncertified adolescents between 15 and 17) are largely employed in this and in the reeling and winding departments. The workers in the Ring Frame department consist of two classes—spinners and doffers. A spinner has to watch the spindles in the frame and if the yarn snaps, he will have to put the broken end into the nip of the roller. He has to renew the roving bobbins in the creel, replace any travellers which may get out of order and salvage the waste (Mr Doak's evidence—paragraph 68). Paragraph 4 of Nallasamyan's evidence is to the effect that a spinner has to blow at the spindle every two minutes or so to prevent the snapping of the yarn and he has to remove the cotton two or three times a day to minimize wastage. These are the main duties of a spinner. A doffer removes the full bobbin and places an empty one instead; he has to piece some of the ends when the frame starts work again, and he helps the spinner in piecing up when the machine begins to work.

8. There are 4,000 spinners and doffers, including women and half-timers, in the Ring Frame department; and of these, adult men will number about 3,000. Women and half-timers do exactly the same work as adults. The half-timers work only half the time of the adults and get proportionate wages. Ring Frame workers on counts of 20 to 32 attend to one side of the frame only with 134 to 164 spindles, the length to be attended to being 32 feet. On counts of 40 and over, they will attend to both sides of the frames and then the spindles in charge of each worker will be 268 to 328, the distance being twice 32 or 64 feet.

9. A few words about the Madura Labour Union for Textile Workers may be mentioned, before I proceed to set out the events which led to the dispute under investigation and the strike that followed it. The union was formed at the end of 1929. It has been registered under the Trade Unions Act and has its own rules and constitution (see Exhibit F). It has an six rolls about 500 paying members, as against 15,000 workers in all the mills in Madura. It is said that it has 2,000 honorary members—that is, men who pay subscriptions and get in at first, but fail to pay afterwards. Mr. S. R. Varadarajulu Nayudu has been the secretary of the union ever since its inception. He is of the Salem district, but has settled down in Madura. He matriculated from the National University, Adyar, and holds a diploma of the Benares Hindu University in Commerce and Economics. He was a teacher in the Adyar school for some time before he joined the labour movement in 1926. He was Secretary to the President of the Madras Labour Union from 1926 till 1929 and was for some time President of the Nellikuppam Sugar Factory Workers' Union. Not a rich man by himself, being the son of a retired civil apothecary and one of seven brothers, he says he has taken to labour work out of altruistic motives and not for money, name or fame. To quote his own words, "This business in which I am engaged often results in a large drain on my resources. If I continue to do the work, it is purely out of love for labour work and not because I stand to gain anything thereby. I don't even bother about the name or the fame attached to my position as a leader of the labouring classes; they are often illusory."

10. The relation between the management of the Madura Mills on the one hand and the Madura Labour Union and its leaders on the other has been one of distrust and hostility towards each other. Capital and labour have always exhibited antipathy towards each other, though in an ideal state of society such discord should not exist. Capitalism and trade unionism are always regarded as antagonistic forces pulling in opposite directions. When Mr Varadarajulu Nayudu wrote to the mills for an interview in 1930, the request was declined (Exhibit V1). There was trouble in February 1931, between the mills and its employees and the trouble developed into a strike. Mr. B. Shiva Rao, who was the president of the union for some time, and Mr. Bakhale, who was the Secretary of the All-India Trade Union Federation in Bombay wanted to meet the management of the mills in this connexion; but these in charge of the mills declined to have anything to do with them, as would be seen from Exhibits V1-d, V1-f and V1-g. Mr Doak was perfectly candid when he was asked in cross-examination about his attitude towards the union, and he said that the management felt that the Madura Labour Union and its Secretary had not been fair to them. He admitted further that the workmen were dissuaded as influenced by the mill authorities after Exhibit V1-a from becoming or continuing to be members of the union and that it was made known to them pretty clearly that the management looked on membership of the union with great disfavour, even to the point of dismissal of the workmen. In another portion of his evidence he stated, "You can take it that our mills are not prepared to recognize the union or any representations made to us by that body." From Exhibit V1-a, it is obvious that the mills went so far as to insist that the union should be wound up as a condition precedent for the re-employment of the workers that were dismissed and they laboured under the belief that this had been agreed to. It is seen from Exhibit VIII, dated 24th March 1931, a letter written to the secretary of the union by three gentlemen who were negotiating peace terms between the mills and the labourers in that strike, that the belief entertained by the mills that an agreement was reached to the effect that the union should be wound up was not well-founded. Reference is made to all this not for finding out whether there was such an agreement or not but only to show the wide cleavage that has always existed between the mills and the labour union. Mr. Varadarajulu made it fairly clear on his side that he has no feelings of goodwill towards the mills, not only because his union has not been recognized by them as a body worth anything, but also for the reason that prominent members of the union who happened to be workers in the mills were victimized for their membership. It is unnecessary to examine the truth of this charge in any detail as we are not now concerned with any such cases of victimization. It is enough to point out that the management of the mills were not at all well-disposed towards the union and its leader, Mr. Varadarajulu, and that the latter in his turn reciprocated this hostility or absence of goodwill. We have to bear this mutuality of attitude in mind when we approach the question of the relative merits and demerits of the dispute now under investigation.

11. The events that led up to it can be succinctly stated. It has been said already that 43,000 spindles in the new mills were not working at nights prior to the introduction of the new system. The management wanted that night work should be started on them also. Whether this idea was due to a natural and gradual expansion of their business so that they may not fall behind-hand in the competitive struggle in textiles, or whether it was due to a desire to have an increased output of production to meet a larger demand for yarn during the Deepavali season or on account of the Sino-Japanese war is not a question that directly arises for consideration before us in this enquiry. It may be, as pointed out by Mr. Doak in paragraph 44 of his evidence, that both the ideas were there, and it is their coalescence that made the management think in August this year of working the 43,000 spindles also during nights. Once this was resolved upon, ways and means had to be found out for putting the scheme into execution. When night work had to be commenced and shifts of nine hours had to be introduced in the old mills from 1st January 1935, as a result of keen competition in the textile trade, a number of women and half-timers had to be disbanded, as there is a prohibition in the Indian Factories Act against the employment of women and half-timers on night work. It is said that the women who lost their employment in this manner began to worry the mill authorities for re-employment, both orally and in writing; and Exhibits D and D-1 have been produced on the side of the mills as files of applications received from the women. Mr. Doak says that the request of this large body of women and half-timers who had been practically thrown into the street, so to say, without any employment whatever from January 1935, could not be ignored and that it was also considered but proper that the existing women and half-timers in the Ring Frame department should also be retained. So, the management decided on the introducing of the new system of shifts of two night weeks and one day week simultaneously with the commencement of night work on the additional 43,008 spindles. The second witness for the workers states that he and some other workers were sent for and told of this proposal by Mr. Doak even in August but that they did not agree to the same. It was notified on 3rd September 1937 that the new system will be brought into force from 9th September 1937. The full text of the notice is given in paragraph 16 of the statement of the case of the mills. The mills workers smelt a rat in the proposal and thought that the avowed object of providing employment for women and children was a mere camouflage and that the change was really directed against themselves. They wanted therefore to protest against the change on the ground that while they found even one week night and one week day shift arduous, it was not fair to compel them to work on a shift of two weeks night and one week day. Mr. Doak was absent at Kodaikanal on the 4th and 5th. He returned to Madura on 6th September 1937 and a large body of male workers in the Ringframe department met him that evening to state their views. They conveyed their objection and Mr. Doak put forward the management's point of view. Much confusion and disorder prevailed. Mr. Doak left the place after stating that the system will come into force. The workers went outside the mills and some of them threw brickbats at the mills which caused damage to the windows and injuries to some mill employees. The head writer of the Madura Mills lodged a complaint—Exhibit VII—at the police station concerning this conduct of the ringframe men and particularizing three of them as persons who were caught redhanded in the pelting of stones at the mills.

12. Some of the ringframe workers, about fifteen or twenty in number, saw Mr. Varadarajulu the same night and also the next morning at 10 a.m. He called for a meeting that evening at 7 p.m. and understood from them their difficulties and their unwillingness to resume work. He called for another meeting on the 8th, which was a holiday on account of Vinayaka Chathurthi, and took special care to ask all the workers to assemble together. He delivered a speech to them at this meeting espousing or supporting the cause of the ringframe workers and it was resolved that there should be a strike. What Mr. Varadarajulu said at this meeting has been the subject of cross-examination and comment in the arguments. But it is unnecessary to pause over it at this place for any length of time. Whether he incited the men to go on strike from the 9th, or whether he told them merely that the strike which they had already resolved upon and which was in force should be continued, the fact remains that as against a few workers who absented themselves from the Ringframe department on the 7th and 8th for fear of dismissal if they got back to work, the next day witnessed the spectacle of nearly two thousand male spinners and doffers absenting themselves from work in the mills. Every day from the 9th, Mr. Varadarajulu addressed meetings of the workers, the strike was in full swing; and the impasse continued till 16th September 1937, when they resumed work after being told that the Government has decided upon the appointment of a Court of Enquiry to investigate into the merits of the dispute that had arisen between them and the mills.

13. With this preliminary sketch of the exact relationships that subsisted between the three parties to the dispute and a brief statement of the events that led to the trouble we may now embark on an examination of the several questions that have been raised or formulated for decision.

14. The point that may be considered at the outset is whether the present system has been in force in other departments of the mills or at Tuticorin or elsewhere in India and, if so, under what conditions.

15. It is seen from page 9 of Exhibit A that a system of three weeks night and one week day shift was in force for the spinners in the Ringframe department of the Tuticorin Mills since 22nd March of this year till October when it was changed to two weeks' night and one week day and that in some other departments, such as Leesons Winding and Reeling, there was a permanent night shift till the October change. Pages 3 and 5 of the same exhibit show that the system of permanent night shift or three weeks or two weeks night shift and one week day was in force in some of the other departments of the mills in Madura itself, such as Reeling and Leesons Winding. Night shift work obtains in the Bombay Presidency on a large scale. Page 6 of Exhibit A sets out the mills in which there is a permanent night shift and page 7 shows the mills in which there is a shift of one month night and one month day. Exhibit B is the letter received from the Secretary of the Mill Owners' Association of Bombay, substantially corroborating the correctness of these details given in Exhibit A. It is thus obvious that though the system was new to the Ringframe department of the mills in Madura it was not new at Tuticorin where it was working since March till October on three weeks night and one week day shifts, and not new in the Reeling and Leesons Winding department in Madura, where it has been in force for about a year. Though there is no evidence of any other mills in this Presidency working on this system, it is undoubted that it obtains on a large scale in Bombay where the shifts are even more onerous viz., permanent or monthly night shifts.

16. The analogy of what prevails in Bombay and Ahmedabad was sought to be countered or negatived by the suggestion that in these two places, a large casual labour force was available for employment for the night shifts and reference was made to the Bombay Government Report for 1936-37 in this connection. Mr. Doak's attention was drawn to the paragraph entitled "Turnover" on page 26 of the Report of the Royal Commission on Labour and he was asked if it was not true that casual labour was available in abundance in Bombay and Ahmedabad. But he stated that the system referred to in that page was not the system now in force and that since 1930, a system has been introduced of cards being supplied to each labourer showing when he was entertained in any mill, when he ceased to work there when he was re-entertained and so on and so forth. The Secretary of the Bombay Mill Owners' Association was asked over the telephone whether it was correct to say that many of the mills there were working on casual labour and his written answer is found in Exhibit B-1, dated 22nd October 1937. It shows that while there is a certain amount of casual labour, it is wholly wrong to say that the mills exist or thrive on them. The following extract from the letter sets out the true position: "As regards your enquiry regarding night shift casual labour is not employed in mills which are working night shifts permanently in Bombay, and it would certainly be untrue to say that the night shift workers work for only two or three weeks in one mill. A very large proportion of the night shift workers have worked for long continued periods in the mills in which they are employed. It is true that labour turnover and daily absenteeism are somewhat greater on night shift than on day shift, but that does not mean that the night shift operatives are casual workers. It would be absurd to think that an industry could carry on for any length of time with that type of labour." Thus it is seen that whatever were the conditions prior to the Report of the Royal Commission, the labourers who work the night shifts are mostly of the permanent class at present.

17. It is somewhat difficult to compare and contrast the exact climatic and natural conditions prevalent in Madura with those of other places and to assess their bearing on the effects of the new system. The Madura Mills at Tuticorin are located on the sea front no doubt but the humidity of the place is said to be much worse than Madura. There can be no controversy that the mills in Bombay must be enormously cramped for space and that they generally work under natural conditions less favourable to labourers than what obtains at Madura. There is no proof, definite or vague, about Ahmedabad.

18. Mr. Doak's statement in paragraph 21 of his evidence supported by the details given at page 8 of Exhibit A that they have actually provided facilities for the workers far beyond the statutory requirements as regards ventilating openings, free floor space and breathing space, has not been challenged as inaccurate or extravagant. The temperature chart (Exhibit C) giving figures from April to September 1937 shows that on an average the night temperature is about ten degrees less than the day temperature. Six large fans have been installed in the Ring Frame department, some for taking away the bad air and some for circulating good air. It is true there is no cooling plant to keep the temperature down. But such a plant or apparatus is usually installed only when there is artificial humidification by humidifiers which introduce vapour into the atmosphere so that a higher percentage of humidity thereby caused might strengthen the yarn. This is clear from Exhibit B-1 and the evidence given by the Mill Manager and also section 15 of the Factories Act of 1934. It does not appear to be correct that the electric lights burning in the Ring Frame department are of a higher power than those in other departments. Large windows, with three separate openings in each and the centre opening fitted up with a slanting glass, afford ventilation. There is not as much heat on the sides of the halls of the Ring Frame department as there is in the middle corridor. The noise is undoubtedly terrible, much worse than in the Reeling and Winding departments, and as bad, if not more deafening, than in the blow room or the card room.

19. There can be no question that to keep awake at nights and to attend to the reel frames vigilantly, to be constantly on the lookout for yarn snaps so that they might be forthwith remedied, and with hands ever ready to remove and prevent cotton waste is a hard job for the spinners. To keep awake for two successive weeks as against one is distinctly more onerous. The workers have stated in their statement that the weariness and exhaustion due to continuous absence of sleep for two weeks is likely to result in accidents due to carelessness or negligence on the part of workers when somnolence overpowers them and that the system is productive of illnesses such as indigestion, constipation, urinary complaints, etc., and is likely to impair their health. This is also the purport of Exhibit X, the communication received from the Textile Labour Association, Ahmedabad. It can be readily granted that night work is always inconvenient and prejudicial to health and continuous night work for a number of days is patently bad. But from this alone it is not possible to hold that in the present conditions obtaining in India labour should not be called upon to do such work. The accident book of the Mills and the sick registers as well as the hospital files have been marked as Exhibits I, III series and V series. Exhibit I gives particulars of the accidents in the mills from 1933 to October 1937. Night accidents in the Ring Frame department were one in 1935, one in 1936 and nil in 1937. No attempt was made to controvert these striking figures. Nallamayan examined as first witness for the workers detailed the duties of a spinner and the obligation to keep awake right through to see that a snapping of yarn is set right immediately and wastage of cotton is prevented. He asserted that since the onerous night shift system was introduced many of them had been ill with some illness or the other, that their eyes watered and that there was no proper digestion. But he did not give any instances of such illnesses caused by the night shift and admitted that so far as he was concerned he never fell ill or sustained any accident during his service of 3½ years in the Ring Frame department. The plea that there have been more of accidents and illnesses after night work was introduced must be held not to have been proved or established.

20. Whether the work in the Ring Frame department is more arduous and exacting than the work of the other departments is not easy of answer, especially by laymen who have no personal acquaintance with the nature of the work and in the face of contrary assertions on each side, the employees stating that it is distinctly harder and the employer telling us that it is definitely less taxing than reeling or winding or doubling. The impression conveyed to my mind—and this is all I can speak of—at the inspection of the Mills was that while reeling was more easy, the Leesona Winding department and the card room work were as difficult. As for noise the blow room and the card room were not much better than the Ring Frame department. Women and half-timers are not employed in any other department of the Mills except Reeling, Winding and Ring Frame; and this is possibly an indication that these three departments stand on the same footing as regards the strenuousness of labour and that they are considered as involving less of strain than the other branches of work.

21. Next we shall consider the adequacy or inadequacy of the reasons advanced by the Mills for the change from a shift of one week night and one week day into a shift of two weeks night and one week day. The management assert that it was brought into operation with the sole object of retaining in employment the women and half-timers who were already in service and re-employing those who had been displaced since January 1935 owing to the introduction of night work and who were clamouring for reinstatement. The workers and the Labour Union on the other hand are equally positive that the change was merely brought about for sweating labour and making large profits and not with any altruistic or humanitarian considerations for women and children. We have to see which way the truth is. There can be no question that the introduction of night work resulted in the displacement of many women and half-timers from the Ring Frame and other departments and that they were pestering the Mill management for reinstatement. Apart from the files (Exhibits D and D 1), Mr. Varadarajulu himself has admitted in paragraph 23 of his deposition that women who were thrown out from the Reeling department had come to him in large numbers six or seven months before September and asking for his help to be reinstated. It is pointed out by Mr. Doak that if the 43,000 spindles were to work at night and the old shift system of one week day and one week night were to continue, 656 women and children who were in the Ring Frame department would have had to be sent out, joining the ranks of those previously displaced from employment. This is seen from page 4 of the statement (Exhibit A) which gives the numbers of the women and half-timers who were in the Ring Frame department on 31st August 1937 as 656. On 9th September 1937 when the system was brought into force, the total number of women and half-timers in the same department were 1,586, or an excess of 910 over the previous total. The case for the Mills is that if the additional spindles were to work at night and if provision had to be made for the employment of women and half-timers, no other way was possible except by asking the men to work on a system of two weeks night and one week day shift. The notice of the 3rd September expressly refers to this fact. If the old system of one week day and one week night were to continue, the women and half timers already in service in the Ring Frame department would have had to be sent out and much less could there be any re-employment of such labour force, as there was no place for them in the other departments which were already working full. Mr. Doak admitted in paragraph 90 of his deposition that the change may not have been necessary but for the reinstatement of the 471 women and 439 half-timers and the retention of the existing 656.

22. The alternatives to this course suggested on behalf of the workers by Varadarajulu Naidu are found in paragraph 16 of his deposition. Some of them are impractical and some unreasonable. Apart from the unfeasibility of transferring workers from one mill to another en bloc, there are no male workers in the Ring Frame department in the Pandyan Mills who could be transferred to the Madura Mills in place of women workers to be taken to the former from the latter. Mr. Nayudu himself stated in paragraph 47 of his evidence that the workers in the Ring Frame department are mostly women and half timers. The other suggestion of three women for each reel was tried for a few months and abandoned, because the women themselves complained of reduction in their individual wages by increase of the number, as Mr. Doak would have it. But Mr. Varadarajulu maintained that the number of women per each reel was reduced to secure a reduction in the maternity benefit bills and he insisted on the correctness of his position, even after his attention was specifically drawn to paragraph 20 of the written statement of the Mills where it is shown that with one-sixth of the total women labourers in the Presidency the company paid more than one half of the actual benefits disbursed. The admission in paragraph 31 of his evidence that the Madura Company paid maternity benefits liberally is not quite consistent with the contention that the Mills want to avoid payment of such benefits. Apart from the individual reduction of wages caused by the increase in the number (wages are paid on work done on each reel) there is not enough space between reel and reel to enable six women (three on each side) to move freely and comfortably. The Ring Frame woman cannot be taken to the Leesona Winding, and the Winding and Doubling departments as there are women already there. It is unsympathetic if not unchivalrous to suggest that when a woman leaves service no fresh recruitment of a woman should be made, as if men alone have to be provided with employment and not other classes of human beings. One wonders how the women labourers will view this proposal of Mr. Nayudu; it is possible there would be a storm of indignant protest from them at the suggestion. To increase the number of reels so as to provide work for a larger number of women is a gospel of perfection; the availability of space for such extension of business will have to be considered, apart from the financial limitations of the concern itself.

23. It was urged for the workers and the Labour Union that the object of the change was to earn huge profits at the expense of labour and without conceding to it any share therein or any excess of wages. It is difficult to follow this argument. We can take it for granted, as it is perfectly patent, that increase in production was the idea behind the direction or order that the additional 43,000 spindles should work during nights also. If the Mills make extra profits, it is by these spindles being brought into night work. But for the problem of the women and the half timers, there should have been no difficulty for the Mills to continue the old system of one week night and one week day shift even as regards the extra spindles. The consequent increase in the output and the profit will be just the same whether the system of work is one week night and one week day or two weeks night and one week day. No extra benefit is derived by the Mills by a mere change in the system. The increase in production and consequent profits will be due not to the system of work but to the fact that more spindles are brought into play. It is one thing to say that the additional strain imposed on the workers under the new system is more than they could bear or could be legitimately called upon to endure, but it is quite a different thing to attribute motives and contend that the true object was to sweat labour and make illicit gains by such sweating. No sane employer takes delight in causing hardships and inconveniences to his employees merely for the sake of doing so and to delight in their hardships and difficulties, unless of course he is of the callous, cruel and perverted Nero type of man.

24. It is apparent on the oral and documentary evidence adduced that the introduction of night work displaced many women workers and half timers and an extra 43,000 spindles to work at nights meant further consequences in the same direction. It was not unworthy on the part of the Mills to have striven to retain those already working and re-employ those who were asking for re-instatement. Requests for such re-employment were persistent and on a large scale and even Mr Varadarajulu Nayudu owns that the women who were sent out of the Reeling department went to him six or seven months before the present dispute arising for his help in getting reinstated or re-employed.

25. Next comes up for consideration the rather important question whether any notice of the strike was necessary, and with this is intimately connected the conduct of the Madura Labour Union in connexion with the strike. Though an attempt was made by Mr. M. Subbaraya Ayyar on behalf of the Mills to show that there was no labour dispute between the workers of the Ring Frame department and the Mills, we have to proceed on the basis that such a dispute existed on the question whether the new system was reasonable or otherwise. It is admitted that no notice was given of the strike to the Mill management either by the workers or by the Union which supported it. As stated already, the strike assumed big proportions from the morning of 9th September 1937 when nearly two thousand male spinners and doffers in the Ring Frame department stopped away from work. The number of absentees on the two previous days, viz., the 7th and the 8th of September was small—only about fifteen or twenty; and the Manager's evidence that though there may have been possibly a small shortage all the frames ran on the 6th and 7th nights has not been challenged. Nallamayan, the first witness for the workers, does not say that there was any strike on the 7th or the 8th. A few of them went and consulted Mr S. R. Varadarajulu Nayudu and they were told by him that it was not proper for them to have left the Mills without notice. They did not go for their work on the 7th or the 8th as they were afraid of dismissal and the witness says in paragraph 16 of his evidence "But we workers decided on a strike from the 9th so that we can get a settlement about the new system." Even the substance of Mr. Varadarajulu's evidence is to the same effect, though he would insist on saying that what was resolved upon at the meeting of the 8th evening was a continuation of the strike already in force and not a new strike. When a few workers came to him on the 6th evening, he sent them away saying that he would look into the matter the next day and at the meeting on the 7th evening he felt the necessity for a bigger and more extensive meeting on the 8th so that the situation could be discussed in all its bearings and aspects with a larger number of them. He did not tender them any definite advice on the 8th, the 6th or the 7th and he states in paragraph 31 that from the 9th the workers continued the strike more extensively than on the 8th. We may take it safely therefore that the strike really commenced on the 9th of September though a few workers in the Ring Frame department absented themselves from the Mills on the 6th and 7th

26. I am definitely of the opinion that except on occasions of grave crisis or sudden emergency it is highly improper for any body of workers to go on strike without giving adequate notice of the same to the employers. It is perfectly true that previous notice is required by section 15 of the Trade Disputes Act only in respect of what are known as Public Utility Services with reference to such concerns a strike without the prescribed notice is illegal and renders the strikers liable to criminal prosecution. So far as other businesses are concerned, there is no statutory requirement about notice except what may be found in the express terms of the contract between the parties or what the general law may require as postulate as reasonable. It is conceded that there is nothing being given on either side prior to termination of services. The question has been raised by the representatives of the Labour Union that as the workers are paid only daily wages, no notice at all is necessary before they stop away from work and reference was made in this connexion to a notice issued by the Mills during or after the strike of 1931 stating that the workmen must be prepared for their services being terminated on a day's notice—See Exhibit VI-c. This position was sought to be met by the Mills referring to certain later notices regarding the terms and conditions of employment which go to show that they were giving adequate notice to the workers whenever the Mills had to stop work wholly or in part—Vide Exhibit K series. Whether the labourers are monthly servants or servants remunerated by the payment of daily wages, the position as regards a strike is different from individual cases of termination of employment either by the mills turning out a particular man or by a labourer stopping from work. A strike means and connotes combined and concerted action on the part of a large number of workers in the direction of stopping away from work for the purpose of drawing the attention of the employers to some grievance which they share in common with one another and for securing its redress. It is, in my view, highly objectionable that such action should be taken without previous adequate notice being given of what is proposed to be done. Reasonable notice is necessary in all such cases and must be insisted on, not only for the purpose of enabling the employers to know what exactly are the grievances of the workmen but also to ascertain whether they are legitimate or unreasonable and to explore ways and means of satisfying them wholly or in part if they are held to be real, and not illusory. Another advantage that is secured by such notice is that the public on the one hand and the Government on the other can get time to form their views on the merits of the question or questions to be settled so that a healthy influence in the direction of settlement may be exerted by them on the one party or the other or on both. Large concerns involving an yearly turnover of crores of rupees and affecting the wellbeing and the prosperity of thousands of workmen stand on an entirely different footing from an ordinary case of master and servant where dismissal from employment or cessation from work is a purely private affair and does not affect the public in the slightest degree. A strike may be for a just cause but sometimes the grievance advanced as a ground for the strike is fanciful or unreal and may not be sufficient to warrant such a course of conduct. Commonsense tells us that strikes should be resorted to only as the ultimate remedy and not as the first step in a labour dispute. A strike on a large scale lightly embarked upon without adequate grounds may cause incalculable loss to the employers and any amount of hardship and suffering to the workers themselves. Such strikes paralyse industry by disorganizing capital and labour; the dislocation of economic life continues long after the strike situation ceases, the strike fever is highly contagious; and huge peripatetic bodies of unemployed and largely illiterate workmen, nursing grievances and feeling disappointed with life, are a menace to public peace. The public and the Government are the natural arbiters of the justice or the impropriety of such strikes and they must know beforehand what are the grievances of the labourers and whether they deserve redress or not. To strike first and then go before the public or the Government for support, is wholly wrong. It is a blunder of the first magnitude even as a question of tactics, and no well-organised society or stable Government will accord its approval to such conduct on the part of the workers, just as no sane body of men will ever tolerate employers who dismiss their workmen en bloc without assigning any reasons and then seek to justify their conduct at the bar of public opinion.

27. What part did the Madura Labour Union play in the strike is the next point that falls to be considered. We are not concerned to find out whether the union's accounts and registers have been properly kept and whether attempts have or have not been made to show to the outside world that it is a much more influential trade union or association than it really is. Our duty is to judge of the propriety of its conduct on this particular occasion with reference to this particular strike. It is clear from the admissions of Mr. Varadarajulu Nayudu that the executive of the union had nothing to do whatever with the strike. All the encouragement and support that was given to the strike was by Mr. Varadarajulu acting singly. He says that he acted as secretary of the union, but admits that what he did was on his own initiative and his own decision. He did not convene a meeting either of the executive committee or of the general body in this connexion, as the rules seem to provide he should (rule 8 of Exhibit F). He addressed the meetings and advised the workers as secretary of the labour union, without going through the formalities prescribed by the rules of the union, as he believed "he had the confidence of the executive committee and the general body in this affair." (See paragraphs 36 and 37 of his evidence.) He felt that it was not proper for the workers to absent themselves from work without notice to the management and says that he even told them so. But yet he maintains that he did not consider any notice of the strike necessary, because the workers in the mills are treated only as daily wage earners no notice on either side is referred to in the terms of contract of employment, and no notice is generally given by the mill authorities when a worker's services are dispensed with. Realising perhaps that he took on his shoulders a good deal of responsibility in acting in this manner, Mr. Nayudu wanted to soften the situation by contending that he did not organise the strike but merely decided upon supporting a strike that had already taken place—a position that has been proved to be incorrect in a preceding portion of this report. In answer to some Court questions, he claimed for himself the position of a leader with a following accustomed to implicit obedience of his advice and orders and placed himself in the front ranks of labour leaders in the Presidency. He was quite conscious of the tremendous amount of responsibility attaching to the views or acts of one in such a position and he stated: "I will never consciously do anything that will impair this sense of responsibility." It does not appear to be a responsible act on his part to have advised the workers to go on strike, or to continue the strike as he would put it, when he knew perfectly well that no notice had been given to the employers, nor did he act as a responsible leader when, at the meeting of the 8th September, he appealed to the women workers also of the Ring Frame Department to stop from work, and at the later meetings called on the workers of the other departments to come out with those in the Ring Frame Department. His admission that he asked the workers in all departments of the Madura mills to be ready for a general strike if the Ring Frame workers' case was not settled suitably casts a distinct blot on his so-called sense of responsibility. The duty of leaders on such occasions is to advise caution and deliberation, to explore every possible avenue, by which goodwill and harmony could be established and a settlement reached; to inculcate peace and reasonableness, and not to incite or inflame passion and prejudice. Making every allowance for the display of eloquence or the employment of rhetoric which must characterise a leader's speeches to his followers, there can be little or no doubt that the views put forward by Mr. Varadarajulu Nayudu at the meetings were the very reverse of what was reasonable and responsible. It may be that the Madura mills had no particular love or affection for Mr. Varadarajulu Nayudu and that any endeavour on his part to intervene with them on behalf of the workers would have proved thoroughly useless. But he owed a duty to the public and to himself as a labour leader to examine the objections of the Ring Frame workers more closely than he appears to have done and to see that the situation was handled carefully and tactfully; he should have taken more time before advising the workers to strike, and utilised it for taking the public into his confidence and exerted his influence indirectly, if not directly, on the mill authorities to look at and examine the question from the view-point of the labourers.

28. To summarise my conclusions on the first two points, referred to me by the Government. The system of two weeks night shift and one week day shift is not unreasonable in my opinion. It obtains in other departments of the Madura mills and at Tuticorin. Still more onerous systems of permanent night shifts or shifts of one month night and one month day obtain in many of the mills in Bombay. The same is the case perhaps in Ahmedabad also. The claim put forward on behalf of the management that they could find no other way of retaining the women and half-time labourers that were already in service in the Ring Frame Department and re-employing those who had got displaced and who were clamouring for such re-employment except by introduction of the present system is not unfounded. The strike of the 8th of September was undertaken without notice to the employers and the Secretary of the Madura Labour Union acted improperly in supporting the same.

29. It is difficult for a layman to make any recommendations to the employer and the workmen on a technical dispute of this kind However, as I have been called upon to do so, I must discharge the duty, imperfectly and inadequately though it may be. While the system itself cannot be objected to as unreasonable and one to which the workmen should not be subjected, there can be no gainsaying the fact that the work of the Ring Frame Department is arduous, especially when it has to be done at nights and for two weeks consecutively. In all probability what is really at the back of the minds of the workers is not so much the extra inconvenience they are put to as the desire to have some increase in their wages. It should be possible for the management to think of this question and see whether night work should not mean some extra allowance to the workers. What it is to be exactly must be left to mutual settlement or arbitration. It will of course be ideal if a profit sharing system is introduced by providing for the payment of a small share or bonus out of the profits to the workers annually at the time of the Deepavali or the Tamil New Year, as this would take away the feeling that the labourers have no share at present in what is produced in the sweat of their brows. But this is an economic question of the first magnitude and must be tackled by legislation as a problem affecting the whole of India and not as a local issue to be solved as each case arises.

30. The hours of work at night are at present 5-30 p.m. to 10 p.m. and 11 p.m. to 3-30 a.m.—nine hours in all. It is desirable in my opinion to reduce it to eight hours, say, from 5-30 to 9-30 p.m., and 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. People of this class do not generally take more than half an hour for their meal. If three-quarters of an hour is wanted, the hours may be fixed as 5-15 to 9-15 and 10 to 2; or 5-30 to 9-30 and 10-15 to 2-15.

32. The advice I would give to the workmen is that they should never go on a strike without giving adequate notice to their employers and through them to the public and the Government and without presenting a written memorandum of their grievances along with the notice. It is only then that opportunity would be afforded to the employers to determine whether such a situation should be allowed to arise, it is only then that attention will get focussed on the points at issue and public opinion as well as Government authority can mobilise themselves for effecting a settlement by according their sympathy and support to what is just and proper and withholding the same from what is unreasonable and unsupportable. At least a week's notice should be given in such cases and I would go even to the extent of suggesting that it should be made a statutory requirement by a suitable amendment of the Trade Disputes Act.

PRESS COMMUNIQUÉ.

Fort St. George, December 17, 1937.

[Government electric supply schemes.]

No. 271.—

As the public are aware there has been in recent years a considerable development of hydro-electric schemes in the Presidency and it will not be out of place therefore to acquaint them with some of the salient features of this development. It was in 1924 that the Government laid down the policy that they should themselves be in charge of all hydro-electric surveys and projects as far as possible and in pursuance of this policy, the Pykara Scheme was undertaken in 1929, after an expert study of the situation. Work on this was completed in the beginning of 1933 and it has been in regular operation since April 1933, ever as a State enterprise.

2. The capital expended upon the scheme up to March 1937 is Rs. 1,68,62,722 including transmission lines and sub-stations at various load centres and the gross revenue realized up to March 1937 is—

Rs. 37,504 in 1932-33,

Rs. 3,82,083 in 1933-34;

Rs. 10,04,921 in 1934-35;

Rs. 15,89,573 in 1935-36; and

Rs. 20,50,337 in 1936-37.

The total number of units generated during the year ending March 1937 was 75·6 million units and owing to the rapid increase in the demand for power steps have been taken to provide additional storage of water by the construction of the Mukurti reservoir at an estimated cost of Rs. 21 lakhs, to supplement any shortage of water for the Pykara plant. The installation of additional generating plant and penstock pipes estimated to cost Rs. 45 lakhs was also sanctioned in 1936 and the work is in progress. With these additional plants the installed capacity of the Pykara Power Station will be 25,000 K.W. excluding two spare plants. This will enable the station to generate 60 million units in addition to its present capacity.

3. The districts served by the system are the whole of the Nilgiris and Coimbatore districts and parts of Malabar and Madura districts. Salem, Trichinopoly and Tanjore districts were also served by Pykara power until recently. These districts have now been transferred to the Mettur hydro-electric system which is nearing completion. Work on the extension to Madura City is in full swing and it is expected that power will be supplied to Madura by the beginning of next year. Further extensions from Madura to Virudnagar, Rajapalayam, Aruppukottai (Ramnad district) and Kovilpatti (Tinnevelly district) have also been sanctioned. The question of supplying the West Coast with power from Pykara has also been investigated and Malabar will probably be so supplied in 1940.

4. The demand on the Pykara station and the total number of units generated for the two quarters ending 30th June 1937 and 30th September 1937 were as follows :—

	For the quarter ending 30th June 1937.	For the quarter ending 30th September 1937.
Monthly average demand in K.W.	16,666 K.W.	15,283 K.W.
Total number of units generated	23,702,088 units.	19,875,385 units.

The fall in the figures for the quarter ending 30th September 1937 is due to the Mettur Electricity System having commenced to give partial supply of power from 1st July 1937. The types of load connected on the Pykara system for the two quarters were as below :—

	Quarter ending 30th June 1937.	Quarter ending 30th September 1937.
	K.W.	K.W.
Textile	12,000	13,660
Licensees	9,220	9,370
Cement and other industries	3,950	4,220
Tea factories	3,000	3,010
Agriculture	2,070	3,430
Miscellaneous	3,180	4,100

The textile and agricultural loads show substantial increase during the quarter ending 30th September 1937. The agriculturists take supply for pumping water from wells. The load under this class is developing and the total number of pumping sets connected to the system is 702 aggregating 4,354 horse-power. The rate charged for agricultural pumping is one anna per unit for the first 250 units per installed horse-power per annum and 9 annas per unit for the next 250 units and 75 annas for all in excess.

5. The Mettur Hydro-electric scheme was sanctioned at an initial cost of Rs. 147·6 lakhs. The installed capacity of the power station when work is completed will be 37,500 K.W. initially rising to 50,000 K.W. ultimately. The initial generation is roughly estimated at 23,000,000 units. The area to be supplied by the Mettur electric scheme will cover the districts of Salem, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, South Arcot, North Arcot, Chittoor and part of Chingleput. Construction is practically completed and a partial supply of power through one unit was commenced in July 1937. In view of the prospective loads coming earlier than anticipated extension of Mettur power to Tiruvannamalai, Villupuram and Conjeeveram on the south and to Dharmapuri and Krishnagiri in the Salem district has been sanctioned. A similar extension to Kaveripakkam and Arkonam has also been sanctioned. The total expenditure to end of 1936-37 was Rs. 98,57,463 and the total gross revenue realized up to that period was Rs. 3,23,314. This was from the extensions to the Salem, Trichinopoly and Tanjore districts which were previously attached to the Pykara system but transferred to the Mettur system. The monthly average demand on the Mettur power station for the quarter ending 30th September 1937 was 4,600 K.W. and the total number of units generated for the quarter was 5,144,550.

6. The Government have also decided to generate and supply energy in bulk from thermal stations in areas to be served by future hydro-electric schemes in order to develop power markets there so that a future hydro-electric scheme may take over the load available, the thermal station being then utilized as a stand by. Such a thermal station is now under construction at Vizagapatam at an estimated initial cost of Rs. 18·70 lakhs. The installed capacity of the power station is 2,250 K.W. initially to be extended by additional sets of 1,000 K.W. by the fourth year of operation. The station will serve the whole of the Vizagapatam district. This load will be transferred to the future Lammasingi Hydro-electric scheme in the Vizagapatam district which is under investigation. A similar thermal scheme is also under construction at Bezwada. Its estimated initial cost is Rs. 17·35 lakhs, the installed capacity being 2,300 K.W. at the commencement gradually rising to 4,800 K.W. as load develops. This scheme is intended to co-ordinate electric supply in the Kistna, West Godavari and East Godavari districts.

Small thermal stations were established a few years ago at Dindigul, Palni, Theni and Virudunagar. The thermal station at Palni was closed in July 1937 and the supply was given from the Pykara system. The thermal generating plant at Dindigul and Virudunagar will also be closed before the end of this official year and those places supplied with Pykara power. The thermal station at Theni supplied power to Theni, Periyakulam and Bodinayakkanur. This station will be closed in a year and Pykara power extended to these places.

7. The possibility of sinking deep bore wells in the Ceded districts for lifting water for irrigation by electric pumping is under investigation. A rough hydro-geological survey was made and preliminary sites selected near Cuddapah. The sites were examined by a professional water diviner who reported favourably on three of them. One of these sites is situated in the village of Ambavaram near Cuddapah town. Boring was done on this site up to a depth of 561 feet and at this depth the water level stood 17 feet below ground level. Test with a pump having a capacity of 23 gallons per minute showed that the water level in the well did not fall lower than 21 feet from ground level. Further tests with higher capacity pumps will be made and if the experiment proves successful, investigation will be carried out in other places and if they also prove successful thermal stations will be installed in those places for pumping water for irrigation and drinking purposes. The importance of these experiments cannot be overemphasized as the Ceded districts suffer from periodical famines and the discovery of a means whereby water can be supplied to the villages will go a long way towards eradicating this evil.

8. The Government have also under consideration the development of power from the Tambraparni river in Tinnevelly district with the aid of a reservoir constructed near Papanasam. Investigation on this scheme has been completed and the report of the Chief Engineer for Electricity on it is under consideration. It is hoped that when the scheme is completed the requirements of the Madura, Ramnad and Tinnevelly districts will be met by it.

9. When all the schemes now under construction and under consideration and investigation are completed the whole of the Madras Presidency except South Kanara will be supplied with electric energy by the Government. Mangalore in South Kanara is being supplied with electric energy by a private licensee. The place cannot be supplied from Pykara as it is far distant from Malabar and the load prospects are not encouraging for a remunerative scheme at present.

K. RAMUNNI MENON,
Secretary to Government.

The president of the meeting shall then announce to the councillors the distinctive mark and serial number assigned to each candidate."

(ii) For rule IV, the following rule shall be substituted, namely:—

"IV. (1) At the place set apart for voting the president of the meeting shall provide as many ballot boxes as there are candidates the box of each candidate bearing prominently the candidate's name in English and in the language of the locality and the serial number and the distinctive mark assigned to him. Every ballot box shall be so constructed that ballot papers can be introduced therein but cannot be withdrawn therefrom, without the box being unlocked.

(2) The president of the meeting, immediately before the votes are taken, shall show each of the ballot boxes empty to such councillors as may be present, so that they may see that it is empty, and shall then lock it up, and place his seal upon it in such a manner as to prevent its being opened without breaking such seal. The ballot boxes shall be arranged from left to right in the voting compartment in the serial order referred to in sub-rule (3) of rule III.

(3) Every councillor wishing to vote shall be supplied with a voting paper, which shall be a blank sheet of paper on which the president of the meeting shall have, before the supply, affixed a stamp so as to indicate its authenticity. The voter shall then proceed to the place set apart for the purpose and there place the ballot paper in the ballot box of the candidate for whom he wishes to vote. The president of the meeting shall cause such arrangements to be made as will prevent the councillors who have already voted from having access to the councillors who are yet to vote.

(4) The president of the meeting shall then open in the presence of the councillors present the ballot boxes one after another, take out the voting papers therefrom, count them, and record the number thereof in a statement. A voting paper shall be rejected if it

(b) does not bear the official stamp prescribed in sub-rule (3).

(5) The president of the meeting shall then declare the results in accordance with the following instructions:—

(i) If there are only two candidates, the one who secures the larger number of votes shall be declared to have been elected. In the event of there being an equality of votes between the two candidates, the president of the meeting shall draw lots in the presence of the councillors and the person whose name is first drawn shall be declared to have been duly elected.

(ii) If there are more than two candidates, the one who obtains the smallest number of votes shall be eliminated and the votes taken again. If there is an equality of votes among all the candidates, or if two or more candidates lowest on the list have obtained an equal number of votes, the president of the meeting shall ascertain by casting lots in the presence of the councillors which of such candidates shall be eliminated. The elimination shall be repeated until two candidates only are left, when votes shall be taken for the last time and the candidate who secures the larger number of votes shall be declared to have been duly elected. In the event of there being an equality of votes at the final stage between the two remaining candidates, the president of the meeting shall draw lots in the presence of the councillors and the person whose name is first drawn shall be declared to have been duly elected."

(iii) In rule V, for the expression "clause (i) of rule IV," the expression "clause (ii) of sub-rule (5) of rule IV" shall be substituted.

(iv) Rule VI shall be omitted.

(v) For sub-rule (1) of rule VIII, the following sub-rule shall be substituted, namely:—

2. Only such holders of completed Secondary School-Leaving Certificates may be admitted to University Courses of Study and registered as Matriculates under section 1 of Chapter XXXVI (Andhra University Code) as (a) have completed not less than 15 years of age on the first day of the month in which the examination qualifying for such certificates is held unless specially exempted from the operation of this age-limit, and (b) have been declared eligible for such admission, by the Syndicate.

3. A complete list of certificate holders declared eligible for admission to University Courses of Study will be published annually in the Fort St. George Gazette and a copy of this list will be furnished to the Principals of affiliated colleges. A certificate holder not included in one of these lists will not be entitled to registration as a Matriculate under section 1 of Chapter XXXVI mentioned above except as provided in paragraph 8 below.

4. (a) All Secondary School-Leaving Certificate holders whose certificates are issued under the authority of the Government of Madras will be declared eligible for admission to University Courses of Study who qualify under the following rules:—

(i) They should have presented at one time for the Secondary School-Leaving Certificate examination (a) all the five subjects in Group A subject to the condition that students who have been specifically exempted by the Director of Public Instruction from the study of the Vernacular Composition and Translation need not sit for the examination in that subject, and (b) one subject under Group C.

(ii) Those who secure not less than 35 marks in English, not less than 35 marks in the selected second language, and not less than 105 marks in the remaining three subjects of Group A taken together, with at least 25 marks in each of these three subjects and not less than 30 per cent of the marks in the subject under Group C.

Group subject, the marks being not less than 37 per cent in any two of these four subjects and not less than 25 per cent in each of the other two.

(b) The Principals of affiliated colleges will be permitted to admit for Mathematics in the Intermediate course only such eligible candidates as have presented Algebra and Geometry under Group C of the Secondary School Leaving Certificate Examination:

Provided that the Syndicate, on the recommendation of a Principal of a college shall have power to exempt from the operation of this rule, a student who, in the opinion of the Syndicate, is likely to profit by the Study of Mathematics in the Intermediate course.

(c) Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing rules, a certificate holder who obtains in the aggregate not less than 60 per cent of the total marks (i.e. 300 in five or 360 in six as the case may be) will be declared eligible for admission to University Courses of Study though he may fail to obtain qualifying marks in one or more subjects, provided that he shall secure at least 20 per cent in each subject except English in which it should be 30 per cent.

5. The Syndicate shall appoint a Moderation Board to consider and modify, if need be, the results of the examination before publication.

6. Any candidate for admission to University Courses of Study who in any year fails to qualify by reason of deficiency in any subject or subjects in which he has undergone examination will be required to appear again at the Public Examination in all the five subjects of Group A and one subject in Group C and his eligibility for admission will be determined according to the preceding rules by the marks obtained by him at the last examination.

7. Certificates once scrutinized, the holders of which were found ineligible under the rules in force at the time of scrutiny, will not be reconsidered.

eligibility under the above rules. Certificate holders so admitted to colleges will be registered as Matriculates under section 4 of Chapter XXXVI.

9 The lists published annually, in the Fort St. George Gazette will contain the names of all certificate holders, except those whose cases may be considered under the preceding section found to be eligible for admission to University courses of study in affiliated colleges, under the rules and directions issued from time to time. It is, however, to be clearly understood that inclusion in the list confers on no certificate holder the right of admission to any affiliated college. The Principals of colleges are not only at liberty to restrict admission to such applicants as they may select but are further required to confine admission to such eligible certificate holders, as judged by their certificates, may be expected to profit by the particular course of study upon which they propose to enter in the college selected.

STATISTICS—PADDY—1937-38—SECOND FORECAST REPORT

The average of the areas under paddy in the Madras Presidency during the five years ending 1935-36 has represented 15·3 per cent of the total area under paddy in India.

2. The area sown with paddy up to 25th November 1937 is estimated at 8,59,000 acres. When compared with the area of 8,504,000 acres estimated for the corresponding period of the previous year, it reveals an increase of about 1·1 per cent.

3. The increase in area occurs in the Circars (Vizagapatam excepted) Cuddapah, the Carnatic districts, Chittoor, Trichinopoly, Tanjore and the Nilgiris. There has been a marked increase in Nellore (100,000 acres) and South Arcot (71,000 acres) and as the same time a large reduction in area in Vizagapatam (100,000 acres) and Tinnevelly (75,000 acres).

4. The first crop has been generally harvested throughout the Presidency. Normal yields have been reported from Kistna, Kurnool, Cuddapah, Nellore, Salem, Coimbatore, Tanjore, Madura, South Kanara and the Nilgiris. The yield is expected to be below normal in the other districts. The crop has been affected by excessive rains in parts of Chingleput, South Arcot, North Arcot and Trichinopoly; in the other districts it has suffered to some extent from drought.

The seasonal factor for the Presidency works out at 93 per cent of the average as against 98 per cent in the corresponding period of the previous year.

5. The wholesale price of paddy, second sort, per imperial maund of 82 3/7 lb. as reported from important markets on 9th December 1937 was Rs. 2-15-0 in Madura, Rs. 2-12-0 in Vellore and Chittoor, Rs. 2-11-0 in Madras, Rs. 2-10-0 in Trichinopoly, Rs. 2-8-0 in Tinnevelly, Rs. 2-10-0 in Anakapalle, Vizianagram and Bhadrapur, Rs. 2-7-0 in Masulipatam, Rs. 2-6-0 in Guntur and Kumbakonam, Rs. 2-5-0 in Rs. 2-4-0 in Rajahmundry and Ellore and Bezwada, Rs. 2-4-0 in Cuddalore, Rs. 2-3-0 in Cocanada, Rs. 2-2-0 in Anantapur and Conjeeveram, Rs. 2-1-0 in Negapatam and Rs. 2 in Mangalore. When compared with the prices published in the last report i.e., those which prevailed on 8th November 1937, the prices reveal a rise of about 8 per cent in Bhadrapur and Tinnevelly, 6 per cent in Negapatam, 5 per cent in Vellore and 5 per cent in Conjeeveram, and a fall of about 6·3 per cent in Anantapur, 5 per cent in Kumbakonam, 3 per cent in Cocanada and Bezwada and 2 per cent in Madura, the prices remaining stationary in the other centres.

TENDERS will be received by the Executive Engineer, Kistna Central Division, at his office up to 4 p.m. on 10th January 1938 for the work of providing reinforced concrete covering slabs over the Hill Drain No. 3 of the Bezwada Drainage Scheme.

The tender should be in the prescribed form obtainable from the Executive Engineer's office. The tenders will be opened by the Executive Engineer, Kistna Central Division, at Bezwada, at 3 p.m. on 11th January 1938.

2. Tenders must be submitted in sealed covers, and should be addressed to the Executive Engineer, Kistna Central Division, the name of the tenderer and the name of the work being noted on the cover.

If the tender is made by an individual, it shall be signed with his full name and his address shall be given. If the tender is made by a corporation, it shall be signed by a duly authorized officer who shall produce with his tender satisfactory evidence of his authorization. Such tendering corporation may be required before the contract is executed to furnish evidence of its corporate existence.

3. Each tenderer must pay, as earnest money, a sum of rupees one hundred only into the branch of the Imperial Bank of India or into the Government treasury or sub-treasury within the jurisdiction of the Executive Engineer concerned to the credit of revenue deposits on behalf of the Executive Engineer of the Kistna Central Division and enclose with his tender the chalan endorsed accordingly. The earnest money will be refunded to the unsuccessful tenderer on application, after intimation is sent of rejection of the tender or at the expiration of two months from date of tender whichever is earlier. The refund will be authorized by the Executive Engineer by suitable endorsement on the chalan. The earnest money will not be received in cash or currency notes by the Public Works Department Officers, save in exceptional cases where there are no treasuries or banks within the jurisdiction of the officer calling for tenders. He shall forthwith upon intimation being given to him by the Executive Engineer of acceptance of his tender make a security deposit of rupees sixty only in one of the forms prescribed in the Madras Public Works Account Code and sign an agreement in the proper departmental form for the due fulfilment of the contract. This security deposit together with the earnest money and the amount withheld according to clause 68 of the Standard Preliminary Specification of the Madras Detailed Standard Specifications shall be retained as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. If a cash security deposit is made by the contractor, he shall follow the procedure laid down in the preceding paragraph for payment of earnest money and such deposit will not bear interest. Failure to attend the Division office on the date fixed in the written intimation from such office or to enter into the required agreement or to make the security deposit as defined in this paragraph shall entail forfeiture of the earnest money.

5. The tenderer shall examine closely the Madras Detailed Standard Specifications and also the Standard Preliminary Specification contained therein and sign the Divisional office copy of the Madras Detailed Standard Specifications and its addenda volume in token of such study before submitting his tender unit rates which shall be for finished work in situ. He shall also carefully study the drawings and additional specifications and all the documents which form part of the agreement to be entered into by the accepted tenderer. The Madras Detailed Standard Specifications and other documents connected with the contract such as specifications, plans, descriptive specification sheet regarding materials, etc., can be seen at any time between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. on office days in the office of the Executive Engineer, Kistna Central Division.

6. The tenderer's attention is directed to the requirements for materials under the clause "Materials and workmanship" in the "Preliminary specification." Materials conforming to the British Standard Specifications shall be used on the work, and the tenderer shall quote his rates accordingly.

7. Every tenderer is expected before quoting his rates, to inspect the site of the proposed work. He should also inspect the quarries and satisfy himself about the quality and availability of materials. The names of quarries, kilns, etc. wherefrom certain materials are to be obtained will be given in the Descriptive Specification sheet. The best class of materials to be obtained from the quarries or other areas defined shall be used on the work. In every case the materials must comply with the relevant standard specification. Samples of materials as called for in the standard specifications or in this tender notice or as required by the Executive Engineer in any case shall be submitted for the Executive Engineer's approval before the supply or site of work is begun. If the contractor after examination of the source of materials defined in the Descriptive Specifications sheet is of opinion that materials complying with the standard or other specifications of the contract cannot be obtained in quality or sufficient quantity from the source defined in the Descriptive Specification sheet, he shall so state clearly in his tender and state wherefrom he intends to obtain materials subject to the approval of the Executive Engineer.

The Government will not, however, after acceptance of a contract rate pay any extra charges for lead or for any other reason in case the contractor is found later on to have misjudged the materials available. Attention of the contractor is directed to the standard "Preliminary Specification" regarding payment of seigniorage, taxes, etc.

8. The tenderer's particular attention is drawn to the sections and clauses in the standard "Preliminary Specification" dealing with—

(1) cost, inspection and rejection of defective materials and work;
(2) carriage;
(3) construction plant;
(4) water and lighting;
(5) clearing up during progress and for delivery;
(6) accidents;
(7) delays;
(8) particulars of payment; and
(9) responsibilities and liabilities of the contractor.

The contractor should closely peruse all the specification clauses which govern the rates which he is tendering.

9. A schedule of quantities accompanies this tender notice. It shall be definitely understood that the Government does not accept any responsibility for the correctness or completeness of this schedule and that this schedule is liable to alterations by omissions, deductions or additions at the discretion of the Executive Engineer, Kistna Central Division, or as set forth in the conditions of contract. The tenderer will, however, have his lump-sum tender on this schedule of quantities. He should quote specific rates for each item in the schedule, and the rates should be in rupees, annas and in sums of three pies. The rates should be written both in words and figures and the units in words. The tenderer should also show the totals of each item and the grand total of the whole contract and quote in the tender a lump-sum for which he will undertake to do the whole work subject to the conditions of contract, such lump-sum agreeing with the total amount of Schedule "A". The schedule accompanying the lump-sum tender shall be written legibly and free from erasures, overwritings or conversions of figures. Corrections where unavoidable, should be made by crossing out, initialing, dating and rewriting.

10. Tenders offering a percentage deduction from or increase on the estimate amount and those not submitted in proper form or in due time will be rejected. Rates or lump-sum amounts for items not called for shall not be included in the tender. No alterations which is made by the tenderer in the contract form, the conditions of contract, the drawings, specifications, or quantities accompanying same will be recognised; and if any such alterations are made, the tender will be void.

11. The tenderer should work out his own rates, without reference being made to the Public Works Department current schedule of rates or to the Public Works Department estimate rates which are not open for inspection by tenderers.

12. The price at which and the source from which certain particular materials shall be obtained by the contractor are given at the end of the schedule accompanying the tender form. Tenderers must accept the material at these prices, and shall quote their price for finished work accordingly. Notwithstanding any subsequent change in the market value for these materials, the charge to the contractor will remain as originally entered in the written contract. No cartage or incidental charges will be borne by Government in connexion with this supply.

13. The attention of the tenderers is directed to the contract requirements as to the time at beginning work, the rate of progress and the dates for the completion of the whole work and its several parts. The following rate of progress and proportionate value of work done from time to time as will be indicated by the Executive Engineer's certificates of the value of work done will be required. Date of commencement of this programme will be the date on which the site (or premises) is handed over to the contractor.

Period after date of commencement.	Percentage of work completed (based on contract lump-sum amount).
One month	25
Three months	50
Six months	100

14. No part of the contract shall be sublet without written permission of the Executive Engineer nor shall transfer be made by power of attorney authorising others to receive payment on the contractor's behalf.

15. If further necessary information is required, the Executive Engineer of the division will furnish such, but it must be clearly understood that tenders must be received in order and according to instructions.

16. The Executive Engineer or other sanctioning authority reserves the right to reject any tender or all the tenders without assigning any reason therefor.
